

10/30/2017 (#24 this year)

Well, it's a day early, but ... Happy Halloween!!! Trick or Treat! My daughter wants to go trick or treating. She saw videos of Americans doing it on YouTube and she wants to try. I've told her that you can't really do that in Japan, but she still wants to. I wonder if I can think of a way to do it. I was thinking of giving a letter and candy to everyone in my building. The letter would say that we are going to come round on Tuesday evening to Trick or Treat. If they aren't in, they can keep the candy. But, my wife says it's not a good idea. That means I have to do it!!

Something Interesting (Albert Einstein)

1. Einstein was born in Germany, but he renounced¹ his citizenship² in 1896. He was stateless³ until 1901 when he became Swiss⁴. He also took American citizenship in 1940 and was Swiss-American when he died in 1955.
2. Einstein is most known for his theory of relativity⁵, but he actually won the Nobel Prize for his discovery⁶ of the law of photoelectric effect⁷.
3. Einstein was interested in plumbing⁸ and was made an honorary member⁹ of the Plumber and Steamfitters¹⁰ Union¹¹. Imagine if he had become a plumber!
4. Einstein's most famous equation¹² is $E=MC^2$. Many people (including me) didn't understand it. Einstein was very recognizable¹³, so they would stop him and ask him to explain it. This happened so often that Einstein started to say, "Yes, I do look like him. That's a common mistake."

Messages by Einstein Sell for $1.56 million

Last week, two messages written by Albert Einstein in 1922 were sold by an auction house¹⁴ for $1.56 million. The final price was much higher than anyone had expected¹⁵. Einstein wrote the two notes when he was in Tokyo, during a lecture tour in Japan. He gave them to a courier¹⁵ who came to his room to deliver a letter. He wanted to tip him, but didn't have any money.

The courier kept the notes and passed them to his son, who passed them, in turn¹⁶, to his son. And now, the grandson has sold them. Both of the notes were written in German. One says, "Where there's a will there's a way¹⁷." And the other says, "A calm and humble¹⁸ life will bring more happiness than the pursuit¹⁹ of success and the constant restlessness²⁰ that comes with it." Words of wisdom.

When he wrote the notes, Einstein had just been told that he had won the Nobel Prize for Physics. He signed both of the notes and told the courier that someday they might be worth something. He was right. Maybe you don't understand why someone would pay so much money for a piece of paper. But, it is not just a piece of paper. It is a piece of paper that was touched by Einstein!

Weekly Bible Verse

Acts 1:8

But you shall receive power when the Holy Spirit has come upon you; and you shall be witnesses to Me in Jerusalem, and in all Judea and Samaria, and to the end of the earth.

The meaning of this verse is God has a plan to reach everyone all over the world. As Christians, God uses us to share the message of Jesus with the people around us. Then those people share the message of Jesus with the people around them, and so on. This way, Jesus's message can spread all over the world.
